Wilderness Trail Names and Quotas for Inyo National Forest

- Quota is the number of people that can start at the listed location each day.
- Permit is only valid to start on specific entry date and location reserved.
- (JMT) or (PCT) indicates trail connects to the John Muir Trail or Pacific Crest Trail.
- Information about quotas, commercial use, wilderness permit requirements on page 3.
- For help identifying what quota applies for a trip, contact our wilderness permit office.

Quotas

Quotas limit the number of people who can enter for each location to help protect areas from overuse. The number shown in the table above is the number of people.

Permit is only valid to start on the date and entry location stated on the permit.

- Quota applies on the specific entry day only, you do not need to select quota for every day of trip.
- Exit quota applies for trips ending at Whitney Portal via Trail Crest. Exit quota is reserved together with the quota for entry location by selecting the permit type "Exiting Mt Whitney".
 Trips that start on the Mt. Whitney trail are exempt from the exit quota.
- Day Use Quota cannot be used as part of an overnight trip. Day Use permit is valid for one calendar day, midnight to midnight.

Commercial Use Information

If you are planning a trip that includes any service from a commercial guide or pack station, call the commercial operator directly to reserve the trip. For many trails, commercial operators have a separate quota. Making your own non-commercial reservation does not guarantee space will be available for a trip using commercial services. Where *single quota is indicated, commercial use and general public share the same quota space. Where a commercial quota is listed, commercial use is limited to the commercial quota. Special Approval indicates each commercial trip to this area requires individual trip approval.
